

Lawn-less Sustainable Garden Finale

The work on the front yard patios is completed. I planted some grasses and other perennials but am waiting until next winter to plant a few shrubs. As promised in the previous blog post, here is a slideshow containing pictures from late February, when work started, to early April, after it was completed. I'm loving our totally lawn-less yard!

Previous posts on front yard garden

Here are the earlier posts about the front yard. Over the years I have written blog posts about the front yard and how it has grown and evolved. You can check out the following links for pictures and discussions about these changes.

Lawn-less Sustainable Garden \(continued\) \(2/26/2018\)

Front yard vegetable garden \(2/1/2016\)

Front yard makeover continued \(11/29/2015\)

Front yard plans \(10/8/2015\)

Create your own garden paradise \(8/8/2015\)

Tomatoes \(4/25/2015\)

What's happening in Wild Suburbia \(4/12/2015\)

Smother it \(3/6/2015\)

RIP Avocado \(10/5/2014\)

Disappearing lawn \(7/10/2013\)